Vermont Woman, Alleging State Error in Her Case, Hopes for Freedom.

Hopes for Freedom.

(Special to The Evening World.)
WINDSOR, Vt., June 20.—Forty-eight hours before the time set for her execution Mrs. Mary Rogers, under sentence of death in the State prison here for the murder of her husband, will be taken to the local court-house on a writ of habeas corpus, instituted by her attorneys and granted late last night at Brattleboro by Judge Wheeler, of the United States Circuit Court.

Attorney F. B. Flynn, of Springfield, who obtained the writ, says the Judge's action means a new lease of life for Mrs. Rogers. She will not be hanged on Friday, he says.

The papers were served on the Sheriff to-day by United States Marshal Bailey, but as the granting of the writ is not final the preparations for the hanging are still going on.

Lawyer Flynn read the writ to Mrs. Rogers and explained to her its meaning.
